01 RACE PRESENTATION

LA GRANDE ODYSSEE SAVOIE MONT BLANC

La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc is one of the last playgrounds for this white seas navigators in search of the absolute. La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc, is also the history of a dream. A dream of a great adventure that crosses our alpine massifs while the standard of this sport, for decades, is to run on frozen areas with little relief.

La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc is back to adventure and advocates a certain vision of sport, nature and respect of the environment. Sensitized by these same values, it's a whole mountain territory between Savoie and Haute-Savoie which is mobilized for the success of this extraordinary race, under the banner of «Savoie Mont Blanc».

It's more than 50 000 spectators who live every year a unique experience, in 20 ski resorts decorated for the occasion, by attending La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc.

The 18th edition of La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc will take place from January 8th to 19th 2022. The public will be able to also follow the race through a digital monitoring system and daily appointments in the French media with more than 15 hours of TV broadcasting (TF1, TMC, France 3, BFM TV etc.), 13 hours of radio (France Bleu, France Inter etc.) and 250 articles in the written press.

All medias appointments are available by clicking here.

KEY CONCEPTS OF THE RULES

General Rules

La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc proposes 2 different categories : OPEN (pool of 12 dogs) and LIMITED (pool of 8 to 9 dogs). Each dog is identified by a microchip injected under the skin and identifiable by one of the 9 veterinarians present throughout the race.

The musher has the same pool for all La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc. For each stage, a maximum number of dogs allowed for departure and a minimum number on arrival may be indicated by the race direction according to the difficulties of the track. The musher has the possibility to drop its tired dogs at some specific checkpoints and he must carry in the sled a tired or injured dog if there is no allowed area to drop the dog.

A dropped dog or a dog in a sled must be examined as soon as possible by an official veterinarian.

Dog health is a concern of all times. A veterinarian has the power to punish or exclude a musher who didn't take care of its dogs properly.

Anti-doping politic

Anti-doping controls will be conducted on dogs by veterinarians of the race and by authorized organizations. The rules describes precisely the list of approved products and those which are not allowed. Anti-doping controls can also be conducted on mushers by random urine sample collection.

Compulsory equipment

The musher must have in its sled or on him specific required equipment either in respect of its security or its survival and the survival of its dogs (Arva, GPS signal, sleeping bag for low temperatures). This equipment is checked before the start of each stage, on all teams.

EARNINGS AND PRICES

La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc offers 25 750€ of prize money for the race but also dotations and special awards, check next page.

The rule

All the rules for La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc and the trophies, can be downloaded from : www.grandeodysee.com/en/mushers-area-rules

PODIUMS, BIBS AND SPECIAL PRIZES

Podiums stages

Following the ranking of the stage, the first 3 mushers in each category climb on the podium and are rewarded by the daily station of the day and the stage partner.

Daily racing bibs

The Red Bib (Leader)

The "Leader" bib is given by category to the first of the general classification.

The Bib « Best Nordic La Région Auvergne Rhône-Alpes »

The "Best Nordic La Région Auvergne Rhône-Alpes" bib is given by category to the team composed entirely of pure-bred Nordic dogs (often Siberian Huskies) best ranked in the

The prize « Wamine Dog Care »

The «Dog Care» bib is given to the musher whose behavior towards his dogs is most in the direction of animal health, on the stage, with significant actions (abandonment of the stage to preserve a dog, clear progress of the team's animal health management ...).

The final podium and the special prizes

The general ranks determine the final podium and reward the finishers of the race by category. Various prizes are offered to the mushers by the various partners of the event.

Many prizes are also given to mushers to reward the next special prizes :

The prize Henry Kam

This prize is given to the winner of all categories of the Val Cenis stage (a two-day race including a night in a bivouac), as a tribute to the race organizer.

The prize Golden Harness

Prize awarded by category to the most impressive dog of the winning team, chosen by the musher.

The prize Rookie of the Year

The prize awarded by category to the musher who finishes the race in the best position among those who participate in the competition for the 1st time or who never finished it.

The prize Red Lantern

The prize is awarded by category to the last musher in the general classification among those who took part and finished all the stages of the race in their totality. This is a tradition in the world of mushing that goes back to the gold rush. At that time, as long as a musher stayed on the track, the lantern would stay lit, it would only be turned off on his return.

The prize Fair Play

Prize awarded to the musher of La Grande Odyssée Savoie Mont Blanc who has shown the most Fair Play and sporting spirit towards the other racers. This prize is awarded by the mushers.

The prize « Wamine Best Dog Care »

The prize « Wamine Best Dog Care » is awarded to the team who proved the most application, mastery and efficiency to the care of the dogs in the team at the end of the race. Prize awarded by the vet team.

03 ANIMAL HEALTH

THE VET TEAM

Role of the Vet TEAM

The Vet Team will ensure the well-being and good health of dogs in competition for the duration of the race.

Confirm their participation before each stage, monitor their health during the race, intervene in emergencies, make recommendations and possible care from the finish line ... The main problems encountered are related conditions High Performance Sport: musculoskeletal injuries (sprains, tendonitis, digestive disorders, injuries pads ...).

Besides the health regulatory controls before the race, the Vets validate, after a thorough and specific clinical examination, the participation of all the dogs presented (the «vet check» before the race).

They are then «to the task» 24/7 throughout the duration of the race, each dog being monitored daily several times (before and after each stage, but also via the veterinary checks on the trail and during the night bivouac in altitude). It is also possible, under la Grande Odyssee Savoie Mont Blanc's rules to temporarily exclude a dog from a team to put it back in shape and, with respect for its welfare, its health and regulation. Every year the French Agency for the Fight against Doping just carry out spot samples from the canine athletes and certify ethics of the competitors and the race.

A field hospital

Since many years, the equipment of the highest technical level is used by the Vet Team: a real field hospital.

La Grande Odyssee Savoie Mont Blanc is the only race in the world to benefit from this type of equipment on the field.

Teams which run the race have a high level of performance. It is essential for them to be followed by vets and having when necessary, the most accurate and fastest diagnosis possible.

Thanks to the laboratory SCIL (official supplier), it is possible to achieve in the mountains and in extreme conditions, digital x-rays on a map sensor, ultrasounds, blood tests.

The experience of the 2015 edition showed all the reliability and precision of machines in extreme conditions: at an altitude of 2 500m and -15°C.

The Vet Team will be equipped this year with a real field hospital: digital radiography sensor plane autonomous, automated hematology, biochemistry, ultrasound.

It may also be assayed blood gases directly through the use of an autonomous compact machine transportable directly on the trail when required.
