01 THE PRESENTATION OF THE RACE

LA GRANDE ODYSSEE VVF

La Grande Odyssée VVF is one of the last playgrounds for these navigators of the white seas in search of the absolute. La Grande Odyssée VVF is also the story of a dream. The dream of an adventure that would cross our alpine massifs while the standard of this sport, for decades, was to run on frozen areas with little relief.

Beyond the sporting competition, even though in the Great North snowmobiles have replaced sleds, La Grande Odyssée VVF reconnects with adventure with a big A and advocates a certain vision of sport, nature and respect of the environment. Sensitized by these same values, a whole mountain territory between Savoie, Haute-Savoie and Isère is mobilized for the success of this extraordinary race.

Each year, more than 50,000 spectators enjoy a unique experience in the heart of 20 resorts, towns and villages in the Alps, dressed up for the occasion, by attending La Grande Odyssée VVF.

The 20th edition of La Grande Odyssée VVF will take place from January 13th to 25th 2024. The public will also be able to follow the race through a digital monitoring system and daily appointments in the French media with more than 15 hours of TV broadcasting (TF1, TMC, France 3, BFM TV etc.), 13 hours of radio (France Bleu, France Inter etc.) and 250 articles in the written press.

It is quite naturally and in line with the logic of its DNA that VVF has decided to become a title partner of La Grande Odyssée since 2 years.

VVF, the leading operator of holiday of vacation villages in France, has as its mission is to offer quality vacations to the greatest number of people while contributing to the economic and social development of the regions.

Sensitive to the preservation of the environment, committed to in the development and enhancement of these territories, VVF wishes to participate in promoting them by becoming a partner in an initiative that corresponds to its values.

Indeed, La Grande Odyssée allows to highlight soft practices, more respectful practices that are more respectful of practices, more respectful of the environment, in a logic of development of sustainable tourism and accessible to all. The link « Man-Animal-Nature », intimately linked in this magnificent adventure, has the virtue of touching young audiences, and to make it possible to sensitize them with the preservation of nature.

STÉPHANE LE BIHAN
CEO of VVF

La Grande Odyssée VVF takes place in Auvergne-Rhône-Alpes, which has become over the years the exceptional stage of an event highlighting landscapes which are among the most landscapes of the planet.

The Auvergne-Rhône-Alpes region is very proud to be a major very proud to become a major partner of this of this internationally renowned event international reputation.

LAURENT WAUQUIEZ,
President
of La Région Auvergne-Rhône-Alpes

We celebrate this year the 20th edition of La Grande Odyssée VVF. We are proud to see an event of this standing still evolving through the time.

The previous edition marked a real turning point in the story of the race with the discovery of a new territory, two more steps and a brand new Title Partner.

Since 2005, we cease evolving the race in order to propose to the mushers and their dogs a new unique challenge. Today, after 19 beautiful editions, bringing people of the whole Europe together around a common passion : the mushing but also the nature and its la nature et sa greatness.

© Benoit Diacre

During the Chapelle d'Abondance stage of La Grande Odyssee VVF, on Monday January 15th, the children of the Pays d'Evian Vallée d'Abondance become mushers competitors. The Odyssee des Enfants is a race entirely dedicated to children.

It is the result of a partnership with the Territory of Evian - Valley of Abondance. Thus, for one day, the children will evolve in the same conditions as the mushers participating in the official stage of the Chapelle d'Abondance: same infrastructures, same sites of departure and arrival, announcer and many spectators.

Twenty young mushers, from the colleges of the valley of abundance: the college Val d'Abondance, and the college Saint Croix des Neiges, previously selected and trained by professional mushers, will participate in the race « l'Odyssee des Enfants » with teams of 3 or 4 dogs over 4 km, on the track that will be used a few hours later by the world's elite mushers in La Grande Odyssee VVF.

The Odyssey of Hopes is a race for mushers from 12 to 17 years old attached to the hope pole of the FFST (Fédération Française des Sports de Traneau).

The start will be mass start on Sunday January 21 at Bessans. The young mushers will travel 11km through the magnificent mountain landscapes. A pool of 4 to 6 dogs is authorized for the race (each musher is independent in terms of equipment and dog).

Veterinarians team

Veterinarians Team

The Veterinarians Team Sled dog races, whether they are amateur or professional, speed or long distance, non-stop with check-points or by stages, now all include a team of veterinarians.

On a race like La Grande Odyssée VVF, the « Team Vets » is composed of 11 experienced vets, as well as a student vet, permanent and 8 in support for the pre-race controls. All volunteers, passionate about canine medicine and its practice in sports, these specialists ensure the respect of the physical integrity of these athletes, and guarantee their well-being. The Team Vétérinaires is equipped with state-of-the-art technology for its mission. La Grande Odyssée VVF's Veterinarians Team is directed by Dr Sandrine Pezard-Van Parijs.

Dr. Pezard-Van Parijs is an associate practitioner of the Association of Veterinarians of the Ark in the Orne and Sarthe regions. Graduated in 2005 from the University of Liege, she first started a general practice before specializing in osteopathy (DIE of Veterinary Osteopathy in 2012).

The missions of the Team of Veterinarians

The Team of Veterinarians ensures the well-being and good health of the dogs competing during the entire race.

In addition to the regulatory health checks before the race, the veterinarians validate, after a complete and specific clinical examination, the participation of each dog presented at the start of the race. Thus, before each stage, the veterinarians give the approval or not to take the start (the pre-race «vetcheck»).

They also monitor the health of the dogs during the races, intervene in case of emergency and provide recommendations and possible care after each stage. The main problems encountered are infections related to high-level sport, including osteoarticular trauma (e.g. sprains, tendonitis, digestive disorders, pad injuries, etc.).

They are then «on the job» 24 hours a day for the duration of the race, each team being monitored daily on several occasions (before and after each stage, but also via veterinary checks on the track and during the night bivouac at altitude). It is also possible, according to the rules of La Grande Odyssée VVF, to temporarily exclude a dog from a team in order to get it back into shape, in the respect of its well-being, its health and the regulations.

Each year the French Agency for the Fight against Doping comes to take unannounced samples from the canine athletes and thus attest to the ethics of the competitors and the race. of the competitors and the race.

ANIMAL HEALTH

The animal health doctrine

In order to meet the objective of animal health and the respect of sporting rules inherent to all major competitions, La Grande Odyssée VVF has enriched, since 2014, the rules of the race with the animal health doctrine.

This document describes the general doctrine followed by the Vet Team. It includes the missions and determines with precision the role of the team's veterinarians, and the general ethics regarding animal health. It is signed and accepted by all mushers participating in one of the events organized within the framework of La Grande Odyssée VVF.

Scientific & therapeutic advances at the service of animal welfare

Technology in the service of health

For several years now, the Team Vétérinaires has been using very high level technical equipment: a real field hospital.

La Grande Odyssée VVF is the only race in the world to benefit from this type of equipment in the field. The teams participating in the race are at such a high level of performance that it becomes essential to have the most precise and quickest medicine and diagnosis possible.

Thanks to the scil laboratory (official supplier), it is possible to carry out digital X-rays, ultrasounds and blood tests in the middle of the mountains and in extreme conditions. This high-tech equipment has demonstrated the reliability and precision of the machines in extreme conditions up to 2,500 m altitude and at 15° C below zero.

This year again, the Veterinarians Team is equipped with a real state-of-the-art equipment in the field: digital radiography by autonomous plane sensor, hematology, biochemistry, ultrasound.

Prevention and treatment actions

The dogs of La Grande Odyssée VVF, just like top athletes, make intense efforts which induce important pressures on their joints. This high stress on the joints can precipitate the onset of a chronic disease that affects about 20% of dogs: arthrosis.

Osteoarthritis in dogs is very similar to that in humans. It can occur in one or more joints and will affect all the components (bone, cartilage, synovial fluid).

This is why it is important to protect them to delay the onset of osteoarthritis or to treat them when it is already present.

In order to support the joint metabolism of sporting dogs and dogs with osteoarthritis, veterinarians recommend a multimodal approach, depending on the progress of the pathology :

- Good hygiene for the animal: limit weight gain, maintain proper muscle training and respect recovery phases
- Physiotherapy with massages and hot or cold therapies. In the recovery phase and in cases of marked inflammation, veterinarians can use a recent technology that helps limit inflammation: laser.
- Chondroprotectors (complementary foods) such as Flexadin Advanced
- Anti-inflammatories and painkillers, during obvious pain crises, which will be prescribed by a veterinarian.

Dogs, like humans, are not helpless in the face of this complex disease. There are therefore complementary solutions that can greatly limit the consequences of osteoarthritis.

Scientific approach

Presentation of the project

Since its creation, La Grande Odysée VVF has always attached great importance to animal health.

In parallel to the race, a working group composed of veterinarians and students has been created to carry out a scientific reflection on the sled dog and its health and well-being.

The objectives of this group are to carry out on La Grande Odysée VVF, a scientific analysis of the data collected on the dogs in order to ensure a more effective veterinary follow-up of these high level canine athletes, to improve the knowledge around the sled dog to make evolve the practice in this field and finally to restore these results to the mushers.

The students are recruited and directed by Dr Sandrine Van Parijs Pezard, chief veterinarian of La Grande Odysée VVF. They will carry out their thesis and will contribute to this scientific project thanks to the data collected on the race and to the supervision of several personalities of the veterinary world

Accreditation and press reception

The work of the media on such a race is not simple. More than 80% of the linear kilometers covered by the mushers are in the mountains outside of any accessible area. The motorized means to follow the competitors and their dogs are very limited either by the regulation or for the respect of the environment.

Our material, human and financial means are limited. We wish to optimize their use by providing the best service to the media. This is why we have established, in all transparency, the rules that will prevail for accreditations. The rules are available in the press area of the website.

The accreditation application procedure

All requests must be made through the website by filling in a request form : www.grandeodysee.com/accreditation-medias. A contact is then established by the press relations department of La Grande Odyssée VVF in order to know the project behind the request for accreditation.

A list of questions can be sent to the accreditation applicant. A dialogue is then established and an answer is given to the applicant.

The step info

The stage info is a document given to journalists who wish to travel to the race. This document lists: the program and the maps of the routes.

The press releases

Press releases are sent throughout the year.

Daily «race» press releases are sent out during the event. These releases contain the results of the day, the photos of the day, as well as a report of the race of the stage.

If you wish to receive these press releases, please contact the communication department.
